DEPARTURE OF TRAINS.

GENTLEMEN—I arrive this morning at the meeting of loyal ladies of last Saturday at the Masonic Temple. A few names have been added which were accidentally omitted in the hurried copying from the various memoranda of Saturday:

THE MEETING OF LOYAL LADIES AT MASONIC TEMPLE FOR PROVIDING CONFORTS FOR THE LOYAL SOLDIERS OF KENTUCKY.——according to the published notices, the loyal ladies of the city and county met at Masonic Temple on Saturday, Oct. 26, to raise funds for securing the services of Capt. G. C. Garrison, who has been engaged by Col. Garrard, to speak at the meeting. The junction of three roads leads the N. Y. Carpet train along which our reinforcements came, the London road by which the rebels approached, and the "Winding Bluff" road leading to Rockwood. Between the two last a high conical hill, which, in military phrase, commands Col. Garrard's position.

The approach of 2,000 men to 6,000 infantry, 1,500 cavalry, and nine pieces of artillery, was known for several days by Col. Garrard, who had sent repeated and urgent despatches for aid to his superior, Gen. Sherman, and to the commandant of Camp Wildcat, Mr. Henry Wofford, on Monday, the 21st inst., when he had received the committee for his arrival.
